

Training

We're not some group of elite software engineers trying to pretend we know what contractors need. Nope. Rather, we're a team of experienced tradesmen and industry professionals who have spent years "in the trenches," building estimates and building from estimates. After all, it's one thing to provide users with estimating and production management software that helps them compete for the job. It's another thing to make sure they are able to use it. We offer intensive hands-on training for our software, and U.S.-based tech support to answer any questions that might arise.

Put simply, we don't just want you to use The EDGE™ and EDGE On SiteSM, we want you to love it.

The Estimating Edge Offers The Following Training Classes:

The EDGE

In-House—Held at the corporate office in Boynton Beach we offer two options:

New User Onboarding—includes online instructor-led class, database setup and configuration work. Designed for up to three users, training is typically three days at the corporate office.

All Users, Anytime—customized to fit your needs, you have access to one-on-one help with an expert trainer.

On-Site—Held at your office, training is typically three days. It's best if there is a maximum of three users but we can accommodate more if needed.

Internet—If you have an estimator who needs a quick refresher, we can work with you in a one-on-one, web-based training session. No matter the complexity of the topic, we can create a session just for you.

EDGE On Site

On-Site—Held at your location, training is typically one day using EDGE On Site on an Apple® iPad®. There is no limit to how many users are in a training class and we will work with the estimator, project manager, foreman and/or superintendents. Training includes:

- Understanding the workflow, which includes:
 - Activating the original estimate as soon as you've won the bid.
 - Tracking production marking the completion and collaborate by inputting notes and images.
 - Viewing reports and sending daily production for real-time progress.
- Best practice for setting up the estimate
- Entering production
- Adding tasks, pictures or notes
- Reports
- Plus more!

Bid sharp. Build sharp.

561-276-9100 | www.estimateingedge.com