Business Lines: Estimating Edge

20+ Years Serving the Construction Industry

Mike joined the Estimating Edge team in 1999 and has since built a career around client engagement. He's currently the Client Success Manager. Prior to his time at Estimating Edge, Mike worked with a local general contracting company after finishing his career as a Class A Golf Professional.

On an average day, Mike manages client training sessions — he fields questions and provides solutions for the problems estimators may have with the software. Over the last 23 years, he has helped train 1,000 estimators on The EDGE®. Mike believes the setup phase is critical and enjoys talking with clients to learn about what their specific needs are for a smooth implementation process.
